

BIOGRAPHY

MIHALIS – THALES POULANTZAS

Professor emeritus at the University of Rome – Department of Social Studies

MIHALIS – THALES POULANTZAS
Professor emeritus at the University of Rome, Department of Social Studies

EDUCATION

- Professor emeritus at the University of Rome – Department of Social Studies.
- Graduate of Panteion University.
- Graduate of Sheffield University, England, and Professor at the same University.
- Graduate of LUISS International University and Professor of Social Communications, Sciences and Arts of Public Opinion at the same University.
- Graduate of British Institute of Management, England.
- Graduate of Literature Academy of Rome, Italy.

EXPERIENCE

- Full Professor at the International University of Rome (1974-1994)
- Full Professor at the Catholic University of Rome (1995 – 2010)
- External Professor at Middlesex University of London and of the Greek Post-Graduate Program for BA Masters of Arts in Design (2002 – 2006)
- Advisor at Istituto Superiore di Doxometria της Ιταλίας στο fenom enologia della Politica - Analisi e Forme dei MME nella opinione Pubblica (1994-2002)
- Professor and Study Advisor for European Studies at Delaware University, USA

His Doctoral Thesis in 1968 at the University of Sheffield disserts on the early period of globalization and the role of the Media. His presence at Panteion University in the 1980's marks his dissociation from the Greek political proceedings and his turn to Social Psychology.

In his long academic career he served in many distinguished academic positions. He organized many scientific conferences in Greece and abroad.

He is member of the Board of the “OLYMPOS” association from 1988 until today.

Additional Information

- Fellow of the Academy of San Andreas of Rome
- Honored Fellow of the “Accademia Internazionale di Propaganda Culturale”.

Languages : Greek .(mother tongue), Italian (fluent), English (advanced level), Spanish (Intermediate level)